From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 1.

Naples, May 8.

LAST Tuesday Count Thaur receiv'd an Express from the Court of Vienna, which ('tis given out) brought Orders for his making all the necessary Dispositions for attacking Sicily with a good Number of Troops by the assistance of a strong Squadron of British and Dutch Men of War that are shortly to come hither. His Excellency has demanded of this City 100000 Ducats for a secret Expedition, a like Sum for paying the Arrears due to the Troops, and 150000 Ducats more for repairing the Breaches of Gaeta. 600 Imperial Foot are come hither from Gaeta, and will speedily be order'd to march to Reggio in Calabria.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 1.

Naples, May 8. This Week arriv'd 20 Tartans laden with Corn from Apulia and Calabria, and with them the French Ship of 12 Guns laden with Merchandize from Smirna, which was taken 5 me Days ago in the Canal of Messina by the Chevalier de Palavicini. We expect 10 Tartans more under Convoy of the Ship of the Prince of Montefarzio. The Slaves of the Captain-Galley of Sardinia, who were set at Liberty, have most of them Lifted into the Service of King Charles III. Some Croatian Troops have newly been transported over the Adriatick and landed at Manfredonia, and more are expected, to reinforce the Body of Men encamp'd at Reggio in Calabria. The Council call'd the Inconfidente (or the distrustful) which at the beginning of this Government was Suppress'd, has been found necessary to be re-establish'd, and has begun to act by causing several Partisans of the preceding Regency to be taken into Custody; which has silenc'd the rest, who took upon them to talk with too great Freedom of the present Establishment. We have an Account of the Miscarriage of an Enterprize form'd against Melazzo in Sicily, where divers Inhabitants and Spariards had combin'd to deliver up the Castle to the Imperialists who were put on board three Ships and other arm'd Vessels commanded by the Chevalier Pallavicini: This Enterprize was to have been supported by the Troops which lie encamp'd at Reggio: To this End 60 Natives of the Country were introduc'd into the Out-works of the Castle; but one of them discovering all to the Castellan, he caus'd the Draw bridge to be hawl'd up and those Men to be seiz'd, 9 excepted, who made their escape over the Wall, and getting into a Bark which they found close by the Shore with 4 Mariners aboard, pretended to hire them to carry them to Messina, but when they were under Sail forc'd them to bring them into our Port.

From the Leiden Gazette &c dated June 1.

Rome, May 12. The Cardinal de la Trimouille and the Duke d' Uzeda have receiv'd Advice from the Viceroy of Sicily, that the Spanish Troops expected there from Cartagena with General Mahoni, arriv'd the 28th of last Month. They landed at Palermo the 31st, in Number 3000 Foot and 500 Dragons: Those Dragons are Garrison'd in Palermo, but the Foot are distributed into divers other Places. Three of the French Men of War that were of their Convoy stopp'd at Palermo, in Order to cruise in the Canal of Messina and infest the Coasts of Naples; the rest sail'd for Toulon to fetch from thence Count Albergotti with a new reinforcement of 4000 French design'd likewise for Sicily. M. Benivoglio, Commissary of Arms is return'd hither from seeing the Succours for Malta embark'd at Civita Vecchia, where the Pope's Gallies wait only for the Arrival of 2 Gallies of Malta from Genoa, to sail together for that Island.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 1.

Legborne, May 11. A Felucca of Savona, which is arriv'd here in 5 Days from Civita Vecchia, was met in the Voyage by a French Privateer, who took out of her some Passengers, Natives of Milan, Piemont, and Final, with a considerable Quantity of Merchandize, 8 Bales of Church-Capitry, and 4 Statues of Silver, belonging to M. Vilconti Bishop of Novara. Here are arriv'd from Genoa 2 Gallies and a Bark of Malta, which have taken on board 4 Mortars and 1200 Bombs for the Service of the Order of Knights of Malta, though the Fears they had entertain'd from the Naval-Preparations of the Turks are now vanish'd. Two of the Duke of Turis's Gallies have put a supply of Provisions into Porto-Ercole, and a Reinforcement of 145 Men into Porto-Longone.

Milan, May 18. Great Preparations are continu'd to be made here for the Reception of the Queen of Spain. The Motions of some Imperial Troops in the Duchies of Piacenza and Parma, have given the Pope some Alarm and Apprehension for Ferrara; the rather, because those Troops had advanc'd as far as Nonantola which belongs to the Duke of Modena: And hereupon his Holiness has by way of Precaution, order'd Part of the Forces of the Ecclesiastical State to draw towards Ferrara. Our Differences with the Court of Rome continue as they were: That Court have threaten'd to fulminate the Censures of the Church against us, for having pass'd a Resolution not to allow any Ecclesiastical Revenues to those who have Benefices in this State, and absenting themselves from those Benefices reside at Rome; but we persist in that Resolution, and no Money is suffer'd to be remitted to them. We have advice from Turin, that General Stanhope, who very lately arriv'd there, having had some Conferences with the Duke of Savoy was preparing to go to Genoa there to embark for Barcelona: His Royal Highness's Troops were on the March from all Quarters, in order to the opening the Campaign: 'Tis talk'd that Army will be form'd near Suza within a Fortnight at furthest; but 'tis uncertain yet whether his Royal Highness will march into Dauphine or into Provence.

Roveredo, May 20. The 16th Infant a Prussian Battallion of the Prince of Holstein, making 800 Men, proceeded from hence for Lombardy; as did also 70 Recruits and as many Horses for the Regiment of Hantois, and 75 other Recruits with 80 Horses for the Regiment of Roccavione, together with several Waggons loaded with Ammunition, and some Troops of the Regiment of Martini. The same Day arriv'd here 400 Prussian Recruits for the Regiment of Anhalt Dessau, and are since gone forwards. Another Battallion is also arriv'd with General Arnheim, and to Day one more Battallion of Prussians is expected. The Queen of Spain is expected here the 23^d Instant, with the Duke of Lorraine, the Princess of Dietrichstein, and all her Majesty's Retinue.
